Dominion For Year Needs $375,000,000 Besides Revenue

That Amount Must Be Raised in Loans to Meet Bonds, C.N.R. Deficit and Farm Relief, Finance Minister Tells Commons

Bill Put Through Its First Stages

Ottawa, May 11.—The Dominion Government will require a minimum of £375,000,000 this year to meet bonds maturing, together with Canadian National deficits and unemployment and farm relief.

Hon. R. M. Rhodes, Minister of Finance, made this announcement in introducing in the Commons this forenoon his resolution asking for authority to raise a loan not to exceed $750,000,000. The balance would be devoted to converting bonds not yet due.

The resolution was passed and the bill based on it given first and second reading.

The loan would be floated at the most favorable moment and at as low a rate of interest as was considered advisable, the minister explained. The Canadian people would be appealed to as a patriotic act to convert their un-matured bonds for the new issue.

The bill gives the government authority to borrow up to a total of $750,000,000.

MAN ADMITS HE SET FIRE

Tells Police of Maine Town He Caused Outbreak Which Made 400 Homeless

Ellsworth, Maine, May 11.—Norman Moore, twenty-five, said by authorities to have signed a confession that he set the fire last Sunday evening which caused $2,000,000 damage and made 400 homeless, was being held prisoner by the National Guard to-day.

Moore was charged with arson. He was to be arraigned late to-day or tomorrow.

Many Fighting New Manitoba Wage Tax

Large Sections of Urban Population Voice Indignation at Two Per Cent Levy; Winnipeg Council Refuses to Collect It

Winnipeg, May 11.—The whisper of disapproval of the Manitoba government's 2 per cent wage tax that broke out when the measure implementing it was introduced in the Legislature, to-day had swelled to a roar of popular indignation and determined opposition from large sections of Manitoba's urban population.

Estimated to yield the provincial treasury about $1,750,000, the extra tax applies to all wages and earnings of any sort. Married men who earn $900 or less and single men who earn $400 or less will be allowed refunds at the end of the year. City dwellers are more affected than those on farms.

The Winnipeg council has instructed its treasurer not to collect the tax from its 2,000 employees and the city's solicitor will advise the council whether they ought to test the act's validity. The council has discussed similar action and will hear a report on the matter soon.

Premier John Bracken countered with a written declaration "the law is on the statute books and the government will enforce it." Answering threats of employers' strikes and unemployed riots, he said he relied on good citizenship and was confident there would be no disorder.

RAILWAYMEN OPPOSE IT

Characterizing the act as "dastardly legislation," the federated shops craftsmen of the Canadian National Railway notified the premier they would consider any attempt to force the company to collect the tax as a violation of the wage agreement between the company and the union.

Appealed to by the street railway men's unit of the One Big Union, Hon. Wesley Gordon, federal Minister of Labor, said if the Winnipeg Electric Company collected the tax for the province it would not be performing (Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

CABINET WILL DISCUSS ARRESTS

Canadian Press
Calgary, May 11.—The arrest of fourteen men following the April 25 jobsite riot here will come before the Alberta cabinet, according to Attorney-General J. P. Lymburn. The men are charged with unlawful assembly.

Mr. Lymburn told a delegation that interviewed him on the arrested men's behalf that the matter would be placed before the cabinet shortly for discussion.

British M.P.'s Score Envoy of Germany

LONDON SEES HITLER PROTEST

Labor Candidate For Commons Takes German Wrath Off Cenotaph Base

London, May 11.—A wreath laid on the Cenotaph war memorial here by Chancellor Adolf Hitler's special envoy was removed to-day by a man, who sped away with it in an automobile.

Clifford C. Sears, London resident, later told newspapermen the man who had taken the wreath was his father, Capt. J. E. Sears, a prospective Labor candidate for Parliament in Southwest St. Pancras. The son said his father had declared:

"I've done this as a deliberate protest against desecration of the Cenotaph by Hitler's hireling. It is also a protest against the brutal barbarism which at present exists in Germany."

Previously a man had torn a Swastika emblem from the wreath and escaped.

Capt. Sears appeared at the Bow Street police court this afternoon to face a charge of larceny of the wreath. The captain was discharged under probation on the charge of stealing, but was fined £2 for wilful damage to the wreath.

Kingston, Ont., May 11.—Convict Murray Kirkland to-day was convicted of rioting and tumultuous conduct during the Kingston Penitentiary disturbances of last October.

FORTY-NINE-CENT MEALS SAVE DINERS THREE CENTS

One Cent Clipped Off Luncheon Prices Eludes New Levy; Luncheon Treat Is Blocked by Separate Checks; Young Man and His Girl Are Annoyed

Hon. J. W. Jones has brought back the days of the "forty-niners" to Victoria and the province generally.

The "forty-nine" signs may be seen at several restaurants in town and, previously, scorned coppers are popular now.

This is one of the ways which have been taken to combat the meal tax by which the Finance Minister expects to make up the reduced grants to hospitals, and the inventive minds of restaurant proprietors, hotel and refreshment stand owners bid fair to make the revenue from taxing meals very small.

The forty-nine cent lunch in place of the former fifty-cent lunch is one of the first methods of evading the tax that has come to light. It applies mainly to places which serve a regular meal at that price. In restaurants, golf clubs, hotels and other establishments which cater to this sort of trade, the practice is popular and the meal tax worry disappears.

But there is another feature of it which requires careful handling, even

Activities of Dr. A. Rosenberg, Representing Chancellor Hitler, in London Draw Fire of Labor Members

London, May 11.—Dr. Alfred Rosenberg, who as the special envoy of Chancellor Hitler has been expounding Nazi policies to Great Britain, was bitterly attacked by the opposition to-day on the floor of the Commons.

William James Thomas, a Labor member, sprang to his feet in the midst of the discussion and demanded the government give Dr. Rosenberg "his marching orders."

"If anything is done contrary to the interests of this country," replied Sir John Gilmour, Home Secretary, "I will give him his marching orders."

Mr. Seymour Cox, Labor member, called attention to the sensational effect this morning of a Nazi wreath which was placed on the Cenotaph war memorial by Dr. Rosenberg.

Mr. Cox asked the Home Secretary whether, before any further incidents occurred, he would "inform this gentleman that we prefer his room to his company."

Mr. George Lansbury, Labor leader, asked the Home Secretary: "Why should Fascist agitators and propagandists, prominent ones, be allowed the free run of this country when you won't allow a Communist in?"

EACH ON ITS MERITS

Sir John replied each case was considered on its merits.

"We want the Home Secretary to tell us in this case what are the merits that enabled this man to be in this country as a propagandist for Hitlerism," Mr. Lansbury persisted.

Before the Home Secretary could answer, James Maxton, extreme Labor member, jumped up and, pushing back his mane of black hair from his eyes, asked why Sir John "refused the request I made a fortnight ago to permit Trotsky to come to this country, who is a much more distinguished figure in world politics."

Mr. Lansbury demanded a formal debate in the House on "a matter of urgent public importance, namely the admission of certain German Fascist propagandists to this country."

The Speaker ruled the request for a full dress debate was out of order.

NUNNS WINS FOR CANADA

Young Toronto Player Takes Opening Davis Cup Zone Match Against Cuban

Defeats Lorenzo Nodarse in Three Straight Sets As Series Opens

Hot springs, V.A., May 11.—Gilbert Nunn, young Toronto player, won Canada's first match against Cuba in the Davis Cup zone play here to-day. His victory put the Dominion team one up in the series to decide which country will meet the United States in the second round of the North American zone.

Light rains of the morning served only to put the courts in excellent shape. There was only a scattering of spectators when Nunn took the court against Lorenzo Nodarse, number three ranking Cuban.

Nunn won the first set, 6-1. The Canadian's back-court game was too much for the Cuban, who could not cope with the powerful forehand drives of his adversary. Nunn repeatedly drew him out of position to send home scorching drives.

Nunn also won the second set, 6-2. Nunn halted the play in the second set with Nunn leading three to one. Nodarse came back after the shower to win the next game on his own service, but the Canadian thundered home accurate placements to run out the set in easy fashion.

Nunn won the third set 6-0 and the match three sets to none.

Playing his smooth, driving game from the back-court, Nunn won down the Cuban in the final set to win, 6-0. Nodarse, willing but unable to cope with Nunn's brilliant forehand drives, was kept chasing back and across the court.

Dr. Jack Wright, Canadian veteran, and Capt. Ricardo Morales, Cuban set, took the court for the second singles match, but were chased off by another shower, the third of the afternoon.

NEW ARMS FOR GERMANY SOON

Geneva Learns From Von Neurath Hitler Government Means to Increase Army

Geneva, May 11.—Geneva was startled to-day by a declaration of Foreign Minister Konstantin von Neurath of Germany that whatever reductions in armaments are achieved under the British plan, "Germany will be compelled to supplement her armaments and increase her army."

It came at a time when the conference is practically suspended because of conflicting views. The German Foreign Minister said that in his judgment there was no hope for prohibition of air armaments or bombing aircraft.

"What must be her own security development military and naval aviation?"

After announcing Germany would be obliged to increase the size of its army, Baron von Neurath said that "weapons and armaments which others need Germany also needs."

POUND GAINS AT NEW YORK

Up 2 3-8 Cents at Close To-day; Canadian Dollar Unchanged at 88 Cents

New York, May 11.—Canadian and British currencies turned irregular on the New York foreign exchange market to-day, the pound sterling advancing steadily while the Canadian dollar yielded an initial gain to wind up unchanged at 88 cents.

The pound finished at 89 3/8, up 2 3/8 cents from yesterday.

The top price for the Canadian dollar during the day was 88 1/2 cents. The premium on United States funds closed at 1 1/2 cents.

Exchange rates at noon to-day (yesterday's quotations in brackets) as quoted by the Canadian Press were:

Pound sterling in Montreal, 4.49 1/2 (4.49 1/2)

U.S. dollar in Montreal, 1.13 1/2 (1.13 1/2)

Pound sterling in New York, 89 3/8 (89 3/8)

Canadian dollar in Paris, 19.05 franc (18.98)

Canadian dollar in New York 86 1/2 (86)

U.S. dollar in Paris, 21.62 francs (21.60)

U.S. DOLLAR IN LONDON

London, May 11.—A slight cheapening of the United States dollar occurred to-day in the quiet exchange market here. The closing rate was $3.95 1/2.

From a weaker opening of $3.95 to the pound sterling, the rate moved slowly to $3.96 1/2, but supporting orders late in the afternoon caused appreciation to within a fraction of the opening level. The closing rate was $3.96 1/2.

DOLLAR IN FRANCE

Paris, May 11.—Speculators in the United States dollar here showed some restraint to-day and there was little change in the quotation, the close being 21.62 francs to the dollar, a rise of two centimes over yesterday's close.

Restraining influences were undoubtedly over President Roosevelt's monetary policy and a feeling that American authorities would be able to control fluctuations with gold reserves.

APPOINTMENTS AWAITED

Ottawa, May 11 (Canadian Press).—The government has made no selection for the chairmanship of the royal commission to inquire into the Canadian banking system. Premier Bennett so informed the Commons this forenoon.

Simon Percy Newcomb, of Albert Head, former manager of the Toronto branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia, passed away yesterday evening in St. Joseph's Hospital, from the result of an accident.

Born in Ottawa, Mr. Newcomb, who was fifty-one years of age, was associated with the Bank of Nova Scotia for more than thirty years. He came to Victoria ten months ago from the east. He is survived by his widow, one son, Jack, and a daughter, Betty, at the family residence, Albert Head.

The remains are reposing at the Sands Mortuary Chapel and will be removed on Saturday to St. Mary's Church, Metehosin, where Rev. H. M. Bolton will conduct the services at 3.30 o'clock. The remains will be laid to rest in the church cemetery.

Bruce, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, Sir Joseph Stamp of London, England, and several other prominent men will be given honorary degrees. LIBERALS OBJECT TO SOME PARTS OF BILL, INCLUDING OUTLAYS BEYOND REVENUES

King Voices Opposition to Growing Expenditures; Lapointe Objects to Commission Selecting Employees Without Civil Service Examinations; Hanson Wants Broadcasting Station in Northern British Columbia

Ottawa, May 11.—The Canadian Radio Broadcasting Commission came under fire in the Commons to-day when a bill was passed under discussion permitting it to select its own employees without the competitive examination system of the Civil Service Commission. In addition, the bill would permit the commission to make capital expenditures for radio stations without the consent or approval of Parliament.

A protest against the bill was registered by Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal Leader. It had been understood when the commission was established it would confine its expenditures to an amount equal to the revenue from receiving licenses. But last year Parliament was asked to vote $400,000 in addition. This year it was asked to vote $1,000,000 additional. As he read the bill, it would empower the commission to spend all it collected from receiving licenses and the parliamentary vote of $1,000,000 as well.

Charles F. Bothwell, Liberal, Swift Current, Sask., said he knew of no organization in Canada "that is so unpopular as the Radio Commission." He had judged the wave lengths of Canadian broadcasting stations so United States stations were blanketed and the programmes of fine music excluded.

PROTESTS READ

Letters were read from Saskatchewan protesting against the change in wave lengths, one saying the west had been served better with fine music before the commission was established.

The chairman of the commission (Rector Charlesworth), Mr. Bothwell said, had been quoted as claiming to have done great things for the western radio listeners. The letter he read, from a Regina radio company, was the answer. There was general dissatisfaction and disappointment throughout the west, he said.

John Vallance, Liberal, South Battleford, Sask., also presented numerous complaints from individual listeners in Saskatchewan.

He urged the head of the commission be called on to give some concrete illustration of improvements effected (Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

CHURCHES IN SPAIN GUARDED

Associated Press
Madrid, May 11.—Police guarded convents and churches to-day as attacks on these institutions continued. The two-day syndicalists' general strike officially ended at midnight, but it was reported still in progress in scattered cities and towns.

Two convents were bombed at Lugo and attempts to burn others at Ferrol and Santiago were frustrated.

Lower Taxes, Easier Penalties For City

Council Passes Measures to Lighten Burdens of Property Owners

Corner Lots to Be Helped on Boulevard Charges; Penalties Rearranged

In addition to a half-mill reduction in the main tax levy, the City Council yesterday initiated by-laws which will give relief to Victorian taxpayers in three other directions.

Briefly, these are:

Provision for a rebate of fifty per cent in the penalty and interest charges on tax accounts delinquent with tax sale. It is drawn up on a basis designed to aid those who have been unable to meet their tax accounts in the last year or two and who are therefore faced with a heavy additional burden from penalties and taxes. If these accounts are paid before the date of tax sale, the extra burden is cut in half.

The reduction in boulevard charges on corner lots is also an outcome of legislative powers sought by the council. It affects only a portion of the taxpayers on the roll, but in some cases will give them substantial savings as the boulevard charges against some corner lots run as high as $20 and $30 a year, being based upon the number of square feet of boulevard fronting upon a lot.

Hindus Face Trial On Wounding Count

Nama Singh Identifies Six Men as Ones Who Attacked Him on Street

Winnipeg, May 11.—Sixteen men were committed for trial. The charge arose out of an alleged assault by six men on Nama, near the Dalziel Box Factory, David Street, on the night of April 18, when he suffered numerous injuries, including a fracture of the vault of the skull. He has since recovered.

Beneath the formal evidence of the preliminary hearing ran a current of strained relationship between the accused men and their accuser. Twice before, Nama said, some of them had set upon him, and Tajo Kor, a Hindu, told Nama Singh, with intent to maim him.

After a preliminary hearing lasting the whole morning the six defendants were committed for trial. The charge arose out of an alleged assault by six men on Nama, near the Dalziel Box Factory, David Street, on the night of April 18, when he suffered numerous injuries, including a fracture of the vault of the skull. He has since recovered.

Salary Increases Protested By Liberals

Tariff Board and Other Boosts in Pay Are Under Criticism

King Gives Notice Bennett Tariff Body Will Not Be Retained in Office When Liberal Party Returned to Power

Ottawa, May 11.—An increased salary from $12,000 to $15,000 a year for George Sedgewick, chairman of the Tariff Board, and a retiring allowance after ten years' service of $7,500 a year for life, was under heavy fire in the Commons yesterday. The bill authorizing the increase was advanced one stage after a two-hour debate in which Liberals and Labor members branded it "outrageous" and inconsistent with the general retrenchment policy of the government.

As introduced originally by Premier Bennett, $5,000 pensions would have been paid for life to M. N. Campbell and Charles Robert, the two other members of the Tariff Board, but that provision was dropped.

WARNING GIVEN
During the debate, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, served notice that the present board would not be retained in office if his party were returned to power. It was established, he said, to perpetuate the "protectionist element in the tariff," a policy with which the Liberals disagreed.

Premier Bennett was emphatic in his praise of Judge Sedgewick's qualifications for the office. He would stand as an arbitrator between Canada and the United Kingdom in tariff matters, and if he were to discharge his duties properly he should not be worried about his personal finances, said Mr. Bennett. Mr. Sedgewick had left the Supreme Court of Ontario only after repeated urging, and "I know not where I could have secured a man so acceptable."

During the discussion, Liberals also criticized salary increases for Maj. General A. G. L. Macnaughton, chief of the general staff and Maj. General J. H. MacBrien, commissioner of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. Those salaries as well were defended by the Prime Minister.

MOTHERWELL SPEAKS
Leading the attack against the Sedgewick salary was Hon. W. B. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture. He took time also to brand M. N. Campbell, who resigned his seat in the House to go on the board, "a political dancing Derris," a hide-bound Tory all these years.

"Has the Prime Minister no shame?" asked Mr. Motherwell. "To what length will he go in coughing up these big salaries to these men? Taxes could not be reduced and deficits wiped out when the Prime Minister dips into the treasury this way."

Criticizing the $35,000 a year paid to the three Tariff Board members, Hon. James Macdonald, Liberal, North Bruce, Ont., former Minister of Trade and Commerce, doubted if either Mr. Herbert or Mr. Campbell "could get $5,000 a year from any concern in Canada."

TAX ACT CLAUSES ARE AMENDED

Commons Hears Report on Incomes From $10,000 to $50,000 and Up

Ottawa, May 11.—Third reading was given in the Commons yesterday to the government amendments to the Income Tax Act in line with changes announced in the budget. Hon. W. D. Roper, Liberal, North Waterloo, Ont., protested against the tax on small provincially incorporated companies, in comparison with the individual income tax. He said he was not suggesting these companies should be exempt from taxation, but their tax was entirely too high in comparison with that levied on the individual taxpayer.

Some of these companies were called on to pay municipal, provincial and federal taxes on income. Double taxation, said Hon. E. Rhodes, Minister of Finance. When prosperous times came back he thought action should be taken to relieve double taxation, not only in reference to income tax but to some other taxes. The retroactive feature of the income tax where a man without an income paid taxes on an income he had the year before, was objectionable and should be considered when prosperous times were restored. So far as triple taxation was concerned, officials of the Dominion and provincial governments were trying to work out a basis fair to the taxing authorities and to the individuals concerned.

An amendment, described by Mr. Rhodes as administration, for the collection, under regulation, of tax at the source where payments were made to non-residents, passed without discussion.

LARGE INCOMES
Ottawa, May 11.—Individuals whose incomes came within the classes ranging from $12,000 per annum to more than $40,000, had incomes in the fiscal year 1930-1931 aggregating $284,771,163, according to a reply given by the Minister of National Revenue, Hon. E. B. Ryckman, in the Commons yesterday. In their various classes the total of the recipients was:

$10,000 to $15,000—491,252,365.22.
$15,000 to $20,000—451,844,221.21.
$20,000 to $25,000—279,948,221.21.
$25,000 to $30,000—420,413,111.87.
$30,000 to $35,000—240,161,303.50.
$35,000 and over—$2,128,923.50.

Further exemptions to the tax on incomes were approved by the Commons yesterday when the Special War Revenue Act was put through its final stages. Hon. E. B. Ryckman, Minister of Finance, moved an amendment exempting cheques issued for milk and cream to producers and cheques issued in payment of wool to producers, and co-operative associations of wool growers in payment of wool to producers, and co-operative associations of wool growers in receipt of unemployment relief.

"At the same time," he added, "there is a similar exemption in the case of money orders, and also a similar exemption in the case of postal notes." The minister also added a clause to the bill which makes it clear that farmers' mutual insurance companies, which have been exempted from the provisions of the act in so far as fire insurance business is concerned, are also exempt in respect to weather insurance.

HUDSON RAILWAY PLANS CRITICIZED

Ottawa, May 11.—Senator Patrick Burns of Calgary yesterday added his voice to that of Senator J. P. B. Cagrain of Montreal in condemning the Hudson Bay Railway. Speaking on Senator Cagrain's motion urging curtailment of government expenditures on the development of the port of Churchill, Senator Burns said the people of the prairies had talked for fifty years before they had got the Hudson Bay Railway and would have been wise if they had talked for fifty years more.

Senator Burns, a veteran cattleman and an Alberta pioneer, said he had been to Churchill and was not impressed with its possibilities. The harbor was good, but the land along the railway was not fertile. Settlers would be foolish to go there when there was plenty of good land available.

From Winnipeg to the Rockies the plains were becoming a cattle-raising country, Senator Burns went on. Shipments of cattle began in February and ended about July. The Hudson Bay route would not be available for that trade because navigation was late in opening. Thus Churchill could not expect to participate to a great extent in the growing live cattle export to the United Kingdom. There was practically no timber along the railway and the only hope lay in the discovery of important mineral deposits.

Two large mines had already been developed in the area, said Senator Lendrum McMeekin of Winnipeg, coming to the defence of the Bay route. He criticized Senator Cagrain for his repeated adverse comments and affirmed his faith in the enterprise.

In closing the debate Senator Cagrain urged the government to spend no more money on Churchill. Navigation in Hudson Bay was dangerous, he said, and Churchill Harbor was subject to ice blockades.

The port of Vancouver had far exceeded expectations, said Senator Ronald Dandurand, Liberal leader, who was hopeful Churchill would eventually justify the expectations of western Canada.

NAZIS BURN MANY BOOKS

Big Bonfires Mark "Purging" of Libraries of "Un-German Influences"

Berlin, May 11.—Hitlerized Germany yesterday evening built a huge bonfire to end "Jewish intellectualism." Books of Jack London, Helen Keller, Upton Sinclair, Ben Lindsey, Morris Hillquit and Frank Bohn, as well as hundreds of German authors, went up in smoke throughout the country.

The spectacle was staged by young university men and women who, protesting judgment on world literature considered as contravening the German spirit, started bonfires of the volumes shortly before midnight.

Dr. Joseph Goebbels, Minister of Public Enlightenment and Propaganda, pronounced the government's blessing on the "purging" of the period of Jewish intellectualism now has ended.

The third glow illuminated Opera Square, opposite the University of Berlin, as the students, garbed in the picturesque costumes of their fraternities, the Nazi brown or the Steel Helmet grey, threw a thousand torches on the pyre, then set the books from trucks and hurled them into the blaze amid cheers.

More than 20,000 books were on the pile which student leaders consigned to the flames. They included volumes by Dr. Albert Einstein, Emil Ludwig, Cigmund Freud, Karl Marx, Nikolai Lenin, Leon Trotsky, Karl Liebknecht, Rosa Luxemburg, Emil Vandervelde, Bertha von Suttner and Thomas and Heinrich Mann.

In the campaign preceding the fires all books of a socialist, Jewish or pacifist trend were especially marked for destruction in the "purging" of the libraries of "un-German" influences.

DUMPING DUTY BILL IS PASSED

Ottawa, May 11.—Because there had been doubt raised concerning the legality of the arbitrary dumping duty valuations set up by the Department of National Revenue, the Commons yesterday passed a bill granting the necessary power.

When gold was abandoned by the United Kingdom, explained Revenue Minister E. B. Ryckman, Canada continued to collect duties on the par value of the pound, irrespective of the exchange value.

In addition there was a dumping duty—the difference between $4.40 and the average exchange value of the pound. This exchange value was set every fifteen days by the department and it was concerning this valuation that legal difficulties arose.

BIG SUM IS VOTED BY M.P.'S

For War Pension $45,000, 000 Provided; Radio Funds Voted

Ottawa, May 11.—Votes of $120,000 for the Tariff Board, $1,000,000 for Canadian Radio Broadcasting services and $45,000,000 for war pensions were quickly passed by the Commons yesterday evening. The understanding was that the fullest discussion on the items would be permitted on consideration of measures respecting the Tariff Board, the Radio Commission and the Pensions Act.

RADIO ACT AMENDED

Ottawa, May 11.—First reading was given in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon to a bill amending the Canadian Radio Broadcasting Act. The measure would amend the act passed at the last session in two particulars, stated Premier Bennett. One amendment was to deal with the acquisition of stations by lease or by purchase, and the other was with respect to the appointment of a staff through selection by the Radio Commission.

This might be highly controversial, but a report had been made by Major Gladstone Murray of the British Radio Corporation after a survey of the country recommending the article and others supervising programmes and technical officials should be named by the Radio Commission. He would not move second reading, said Mr. Bennett, until an opportunity had been afforded for consideration of the bill.

MORE PORK BEING EATEN

Ninety-one Pounds Per Capita Consumed in Canada During Last Year

Ottawa, May 11.—Pork as the Canadian standby in meats, according to a report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, The per-capita consumption in 1932 was ninety-one pounds, which was greater than the consumption of all other meats combined, including poultry. Beef consumed amounted to fifty-six pounds per capita, mutton and lamb about twenty pounds, and poultry—eleven pounds.

Total consumption of eggs was 297,949,338 dozen, or twenty-eight dozen per capita, as compared with twenty-nine dozen in the previous year.

PRAIRIE M.P.P. ENDS HIS LIFE

Sophtre, Sask., May 11.—Donald M. Strath, Liberal M.P.P. for Hapland, took his own life yesterday by cutting his throat with a razor. He was a farmer in this district.

He was apparently in good health on Tuesday, but complained of feeling ill when he got up yesterday morning. Contrary to his usual custom, he did not tell his men what work they were to do during the day.

Some time later Mrs. Strath asked one of the men where Mr. Strath was and he told her he had gone to the caboose.

Mrs. Strath went to the caboose and found the body of her husband slumped over the steps. He appeared to have been dead for some time.

EXCHANGE DUTY RULING IS MADE

Ottawa, May 11.—A further regulation in respect to publication of the exchange dumping duty has been issued by the Department of National Revenue. It sets forth that if the selling price of a commodity to the Canadian purchaser is equal to the value of the invoice computed at $4.45 to the pound or over, but actually less than the value of the invoice computed at the rate of exchange at date of shipment, the goods are being sold for less than the fair home consuming value. The special or dumping duty will then apply.

THIS RABBIT CHASES DOGS

ALL-INDIA PARTY TO REORGANIZE

Vienna, May 11.—V. J. Patel, former president of the All-India Congress Party, and Subhas Chandra Bose, former mayor of Calcutta, yesterday evening issued the following joint statement from the sanatorium where Patel is undergoing treatment.

"We are convinced that as a political leader Mahatma Gandhi has failed. The time therefore has come for a radical reorganization of the All-India Congress on a new principle and with a new method. Non-co-operation cannot be abandoned, but the form of non-co-operation must be changed into the more militant one and the freedom fight waged on all fronts."

WAGE TAX TEST IN WINNIPEG

Winnipeg, May 11.—Expressing surprise at the action of the Winnipeg council in refusing to deduct the 2 per cent emergency tax levy from civil employees' pay—envelopes—Premier John Bracken yesterday said the tax was constitutional and would be enforced.

At a meeting of the city council Wednesday evening, a motion was passed instructing the city solicitor not to make the deduction from salaries of city employees. It also expressed its intention of carrying the fight to the courts, should that be necessary.

The 2 per cent wage tax bill was passed at the recent session of the Legislature after an animated debate and a filibuster before prorogation.

Hospital Day To-morrow In Local Institutions

Jubilee and St. Joseph's to Hold "Open House"; Chapter's Bridge

Anniversary of Florence Nightingale's Birth; St. Joseph's Tag Day Saturday

To-morrow marks the birthday of Florence Nightingale, the heroine of the Crimean War who was the pioneer of modern nursing and hospitalization; and in accordance with the custom inaugurated a number of years ago and followed throughout the American continent on the anniversary of her birth, Hospital Day will be observed in the local hospitals.

AT THE JUBILEE The Royal Jubilee Hospital will hold "open house" in celebration of the day and the general public will be welcomed between the hours of 2 and 5 o'clock. All departments of the hospital will be thrown open for inspection, with nurses to act as guides, and it is expected that many will avail themselves of this opportunity of viewing the modern equipment and splendid facilities which are at the disposal of patients in the institution.

In conjunction with Hospital Day, the Florence Nightingale Chapter I.O.D.E. will celebrate its own twenty-first birthday, together with the birth of a bridge party in the Nurses' Home, both afternoon and evening. The chapter, ever since its inception, has made the Jubilee Hospital, and particularly the tubercular ward, its special care, and the proceeds of the bridge will augment its funds for this purpose. Reservations for the afternoon game, which commences at 2:30 o'clock, may be made with Mrs. George Watts, G.3845, and for the evening with Mrs. Norman Baker, E.1030.

ST. JOSEPH'S Sister Superior of St. Joseph's Hospital announces that the institution will also hold "open house" to-morrow afternoon, and she tenders a cordial invitation to the general public to visit the institution between the hours of 2 and 5 o'clock. Since last year a number of improvements have been carried out and members of the nursing staff and Sisters will be on hand to show visitors around and explain the various equipment.

TAG DAY SATURDAY On Saturday, May 13, St. Joseph's Hospital will hold its annual tag day, when the public will be approached on behalf of this splendid institution. Ever since the pioneer band of Sisters of St. Ann started their first little hospital in Victoria, St. Joseph's has filled a big need in the community.

while many indigent patients have benefited by its up-to-date facilities and the kindly ministrations of its very efficient staff.

In common with hospitals throughout Canada, St. Joseph's has been hit by the prevailing money stringency, and they will gratefully welcome any contribution on Saturday, none being too small and none too large.

BEST HAVEN "AT HOME" Best Haven at Sidney is commemorating Hospital Day to-day in order not to conflict with the local institutions. The sanatorium is being opened to the public from 2:30 till 5:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Guides will be stationed at suitable points to conduct visitors to the various departments of interest, where qualified nurses will be available to explain the uses of the various types of equipment employed for the reconstruction of health. Light refreshments will be served in the dining room.

HAD PALE BLUE WEDDING GOWN

Viscount Milton's Bride Chose Novel Color Scheme For Irish Wedding

Viscount Milton, twenty-three-year-old heir to Earl Fitzwilliam, specially chartered two steamships in which more than 500 tenants from his father's estates at Wentworth and Malton, Yorkshire, were conveyed from England to Ireland for his wedding recently. The bride was Miss Olive Plunkett, daughter of Dr. B. J. Plunkett, former Bishop of Meath, Ireland, who is known as "the millionaire bishop," and the marriage united two of the wealthiest families in the British Isles.

The wedding was solemnized in St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin. Contrary to custom, Miss Plunkett chose, not white, but very pale blue for her wedding gown.

The gown was of satin, cut on Empire lines and embroidered all over with pale blue pearls and diamonds. The fourteen-foot train was similarly embroidered.

To carry out the blue color scheme, the eight bridesmaids wore dresses of deepening shades of blue.

Lord Milton experienced some difficulty over a wedding present, a portrait of his fiancée, which had been sent to him in Ireland and was held up at the Free State customs. Before he was allowed to have it he was made to promise that he would take the picture out of Ireland again.

Swimming Pool At Solarium Rebuilt

Damage Done in Great Storm Repaired Through Generosity of Friends

Directors Grateful For Ready Response to Appeal; Other Donations

The little inmates of the Queen Alexandra Solarium are again rejoicing—for the open air swimming pool, which was destroyed in the great storm this spring has been rebuilt, thanks to the assistance of many generous friends of the institution. The swimming pool represented not only a delightful playground for the children, but was a medium through which much-needed treatment was given, the sun-warmed salt water and the subsequent sunning on the sands helping to bring back health and straightness to weak and crippled limbs.

The president and directors much appreciate the generous response which met their appeal for funds for rebuilding the bathing pool and gratefully acknowledging the following donations for this purpose: H. Storer-Brown $5, Anonymous $1, W. M. Allan, Pacific Steamship Lines $10, Victoria West School $5, Mrs. J. Pease $100, J. A. Sayward $700, J. Leeming $2, H. T. Smith $2, J. H. Maunsell $5, Miss A. Ravenhill $5, total $835.

"The Tangle"

A Novel by

H. LAWRENCE PHILLIPS

Author of "Cap'n Benny" and "A Friendless Millionaire"

"That was what made it stranger than ever to my mind, Mrs. Lisle was such a quiet, well behaved lady. Many a time I've said, that if I'd a daughter I'd like her to have her manners. And as to carrying on, she hadn't a chance, poor dear, not as I know of."

The coroner suppressing a desire to smile, by apparently studying the papers before him, asked a further question.

"Are we to gather from that answer that Mrs. Lisle had few visitors? None of the male sex?"

"Not as far as I knew. Of course I was mostly there in the mornings, only now and then in the afternoons, but I didn't see any. And she was most respectable; many times she said to me, Mrs. Chubb, how lovely the peace and quiet of this place is after the rush of fashionable society. A most respectable lady, and the last one to cause a scandal."

The pistol was shown to her, and she said that she had once seen "the nasty thing" in Miss Debnam's room. The coroner reflected for a few moments, then asked the jury if they had any questions to put. As none ventured, he dismissed Mrs. Chubb with a word, and called Troate, who testified to the finding of the body and its position. He was evidently nervous, but I didn't see any. And she was most respectable; many times she said to me, Mrs. Chubb, how lovely the peace and quiet of this place is after the rush of fashionable society. A most respectable lady, and the last one to cause a scandal."

The coroner reflected for a few moments, then asked the jury if they had any questions to put. As none ventured, he dismissed Mrs. Chubb with a word, and called Troate, who testified to the finding of the body and its position. He was evidently nervous, but I didn't see any. And she was most respectable; many times she said to me, Mrs. Chubb, how lovely the peace and quiet of this place is after the rush of fashionable society. A most respectable lady, and the last one to cause a scandal."

"Then your opinion comes to this while you do not rule out the possibility of suicide, you are inclined to doubt the probability."

"That is so," replied Dr. Rigby. "As the jury had no questions to ask, the witness stood down, and the coroner addressed them."

"You have probably been amazed at the doctor's evidence as to the sex of the deceased, and you will easily understand my decision to adjourn the inquiry at this point, and I do so for one week. By that time, perhaps, as the result of further inquiries by the police, we may have fuller light thrown upon this curious case. Gentlemen, the inquiry is adjourned to the date stated."

No longer restrained by the necessity for silence, a regular babel of tongues ensued, and few showed any disposition to leave the hall. While the reporters scribbled furiously, the audience gathered in groups to discuss the turn the inquiry had taken. Miss Merston was one of the most eloquent. She had, with her usual energy and determination, secured a front seat, and was heard by the man Montali to accompany her, but that lady declared loftily that such gruesome scenes did not have for her the same attraction as they evidently did for Miss Merston.

"There are plenty many things in life that you can't avoid, so why seek for it?"

The vicar presumably was excited by his personal interest in the case, but punished by Miss Merston's button-holding him, and making him the recipient of her opinions.

"The police are bungling again as usual, I fear, Vicar, and they will never solve the mystery. There's that man Troate, a most disreputable—"

Manston and Ritter followed later. When they got free of the crowd outside they discussed the case, the latter opening the conversation.

"The coroner's out for murder and suicide, I fancy, and on the face of it that theory is strengthened by what the charwoman said. And remember the 'Yard' note as to the jealousy of Flowers. It gives a fairly strong purpose, masquerading as a woman."

"I suppose it does," said Manston musingly, "but look at it in another way. Mrs. Chubb said that the lady had 'no theory of carrying on,' but we know of three men at least who were, if unobserved, yet visitors to the house. Grayson, Shadwell and Mr. X."

"And remember that there was another one who nearly put his neck in the noose, Tom Estcourt. But he found the dead bodies, adding to our difficulties by his foolish dealing with them. Suppose that Grayson came in earlier the same way, and found that Flowers had murdered his wife and then killed himself. Knowing his criminal 'connection' with them, he wouldn't raise the alarm, but get out as fast as possible, leaving the print behind."

"Yes, I quite see that such a theory covers most of the facts, but I still cling to my opinion that the marks of the pistol were fired from the head, but the absence of more marked signs than those which the body exhibits suggests that it was not placed at the temple itself before firing, as is usual in such cases."

"I think that the weapon was fired close to the head, but the absence of more marked signs than those which the body exhibits suggests that it was not placed at the temple itself before firing, as is usual in such cases."

the wounds in Mrs. Lisle's case suggest accident, and in 'Miss Debnam's' murder, none but a bungler would hold the pistol at such a distance from his head as Flowers must have done if he committed suicide, otherwise the traces of the powder would have been there."

"But it was his pistol," argued Ritter.

"But not his hand that used it. However, the murder case is yours, the jewels are mine, and I am going off to the Estcourt's to set my mouse trap."

They separated and went their respective ways. Manston found the Estcourt's at home, and in answer to their interested inquiries told them what had transpired at the inquest.

The Colonel and his son (the latter looking very disreputable, with a large bump on the back of his head and a general look of seediness) opined that it was a clear case of murder and suicide.

Manston gave a guarded answer, and stated his errand. Estcourt laughed, and asked whether he had been going to watch over his movements.

"We have been busy all the morning getting ready to be off by the afternoon train. My wife can travel, and I thought it better if she came to herself away from Colchester. I will let you have the keys willingly, and wish you the best of luck. Only don't smash up the furniture more than you can help," he said, laughing once more.

"If you will smash up the man who gave me this watch over the head I should be glad," observed Tim Estcourt earnestly. "Look here, can't I share your vigil? I could come back this evening after dark, and would be very careful not to spoil your plans."

Manston was not very keen on the proposition.

"We have to deal with a very wild bird indeed, and can't afford to give away any points," he objected. "Your coming back might be spotted, and suspicion aroused."

However, Estcourt pleaded so earnestly and promised to take every precaution that Manston yielded at last, and arranged that, taking all precautions, he should be at the bungalow at ten that night.

"Advise your departure as much as possible without overdoing it," he remarked as he said good-bye, and expressed his hope for the speedy recovery of Mrs. Estcourt.

He got back in good time for lunch, and Gray had much to say about the inquest.

"The Squire had been interested naturally, and is inclined to agree with what the coroner hinted, murder and suicide."

Manston said tactfully that the Inspector said that things were pointing that way.

"What an end! I suppose that they have not found out anything about them?"

"Mentioned allowed, under the promise of strict secrecy, a hint to escape that their past record was not altogether a desirable one."

"I thought that I thought it was likely to be the case, to Dr. Estcourt this morning."

"Ester—who is he?"

"A retired medical man who lives a little way off. You might have noticed him at the inquest. I was chatting to him when Tom Estcourt came up to say that they were going off for the case, to Dr. Estcourt this morning."

Manston made an evasive answer, and they relapsed into silence; the silence of two friends that produces nothing of dullness in such a condition, but only restful quiet.

They were aroused from this by the entrance of the maid with the envelope, among which was an official-looking envelope for Manston. He opened it, to find that Headquarters were anxious to know what progress he was making in the matter of Lady Estcourt's case. The Home Secretary had been inquiring.

"Apart from his personal interest," Manston's chief went on, "the jewel robbery of the past two years have resulted in valuable work in the aggregate an enormous sum of money being stolen, and the criminals have escaped. This is breeding a spirit of hostile criticism of this department, and the utmost zeal on the part of all officers is needed." The letter ended with a very plain hint that Manston's further prospects depended upon his success in the case entrusted to him.

"The detective was looking rather grim when he left, as Gray said, and he asked him whether he had had news of the case. He said that he had not, but that he would get on with his job, and if I don't succeed soon it will be scored against me. Rather encouraging, when one is doing one's best. But I think that I had better draw up my report, and give them something to think about."

He grinned cheerfully, and evidently did not allow himself to be unduly disturbed by his wiggling.

Retiring to his room, he set out in detail the information he had compiled, and his suspicions of Grayson as far as the jewel robbery was concerned. Of his impressions concerning his connection with the "Lindens" murder he said nothing. "That's Ritter's job," he said to himself. "As the local authorities haven't asked officially for the help of the 'Yard,' we don't come into it." He ended his report by saying:

CLEAVAGE GROWS IN WASHINGTON

Conservatives Stir With Socialization the Issue Under New Deal

Realignment on Basis of Two-party System Is Seen Under Way

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington, May 11.—Signs of the cleavage between the liberal and the conservative factions in politics, hitherto obscured in an almost cloying period of complicated legislation, are beginning to reappear.

The manifestations are being watched carefully by those who foresee a realignment of political parties on that basis.

A division which cannot be ignored, despite the uncertainty as to its significance, was marked when Senator Carter Glass of Virginia and Senator Robert M. Butler of Ohio lined up with the Republican conservatives to oppose the Roosevelt inflation measure. Next day Borah of Idaho and Norris of Nebraska, progressives, were attacking the administration's "high-handed" effort to force citizens to deposit gold holdings in unguaranteed banks.

CRITICISM VOCAL

One cannot predict any immediate danger to the Roosevelt programme in Congress, but these developments are at least indicative of an increased disposition to ask where the government and the country are going from here.

The Glass attack has stiffened the backs of some conservatives who had been reluctantly silent.

The Virginia senator's break with the administration followed a small outburst of warnings that the administration was headed toward "left-wing radicalism." It strengthened the fears of those who, for various reasons, had been whispering that the "Roosevelt professors" were rushing the country toward a socialist programme.

INFLATION PRESSURE

Borah and Norris, on the other hand, contributed to the recent complaints from the other side of the fence that the process of tossing all-embracing power to Roosevelt was going too far.

Furthermore, the two progressives voiced the demand for bank deposit insurance. This proposal, like the inflation measures which Roosevelt will have the power to use, was one regarded as radical and was espoused only by progressives.

It appears that Roosevelt has intended to be extremely cautious in utilizing his inflation prerogatives, but he is now going to be subjected to pressure from both anti-inflationists and inflationists.

CONTROLLING

The conservatives really began to get their breath and become vocal again when the Senate passed the thirty-hour-week bill with Roosevelt's approval and the bill then became law. A minimum wage measure. After that the question of "production control" was raised, and while it seems the administration doesn't plan to use the bill in any programme for planned economy, it is pretty well understood that some of the professors look forward to some planned, controlled industrial system.

Add to that the inflation measure, the Muscle Shoals plan and the administration attitude toward public utilities, prospects of federal public works, the controversial farm relief plan, securities control, banking reform, proposed federal control of railroads and the likelihood of tariff revision downward—and you have the makings of a substantial conservative opposition to the administration.

ALDER CONFIDENT OF PRINCE RUPERT

W. J. Alder has resigned as chairman of the Oak Bay Conservative executive to leave for Prince Rupert, where he will take over the office of commissioner to lift that city out of its present financial difficulties.

R. D. Harvey has been chosen to succeed Mr. Alder in Oak Bay.

Mr. Alder will sail from Vancouver on Saturday for the north. He was a resident of Prince Rupert for a number of years and has continued a close student of its problems since he moved south to Victoria. He declared Prince Rupert has the essential elements of vitality and growth and is able to support a population twice its present size. He urged that Prince Rupert's business should be placed on a basis comparable with that of other coast ports and that it should cultivate its rail connection with the rest of the country. Mr. Alder has large personal holdings in Prince Rupert and has maintained them all during the depression.

BIG NEW WORKS PLANS IN U.S.

Associated Press Washington, May 11.—New taxes will be asked by the United States administration to meet the interest and amortization costs of the proposed $3,000,000,000 bond issue to put thousands of jobs back to work. How much and what form of taxes the purpose of which is to keep the newly-trimmed budget within balance—are to be recommended to Congress have not been determined. This was one of the points facing President Roosevelt to-day as he worked on the last of his big domestic emergency relief measures.

Sweeping in scope, this programme encompasses public works construction and stimulation of industry through government supervision.

One hundred delegates from all parts of Australia gathered recently in Sydney to discuss the advisability of sending trade representatives to the Orient.

BIG SCRIMMAGE ON OVER TARIFFS

Washington Sees Sudden Reversal From Extremes of Dingley Days

Cordell Hull—Leader of New Move as Reciprocity Talk Is Revived

BY MORRIS GILBERT

Washington, May 11.—Special ambassadors coming to Washington, and those already here, will participate in the world's greatest scrimmage when they engage in tariff talks. The ambassadors are, of course, brave men. They are tackling the high tariff question in a country where high tariffs have been a fetish.

"When better tariffs are made," said Mr. Dingley back in the '90s, "Dingley will make them." So did Mr. Smoot, not so long ago. Bigger and better tariffs for America has been the war-cry for many years.

The result is majestic. From the embargoes of the Ottawa agreements, and Britain's wholesale tariff bill of last year, to the exclusion of retractable bespeers from Bargarvia, the world has gone American—tariff American.

TALKS RECIPROCITY

Now, in less than six weeks, all that is changing, Cordell Hull, not so long ago the forlorn leader of a forlorn low-tariff cause, is secretary of state. A fiery Tennesseean, the best of the Free Trade battle smouldering in his deep-set eyes, he is talking reciprocal agreements with foreign countries for the general lowering of tariffs and the general stimulation of world trade.

The idea of reciprocity is no new one. The United States and Canada had a reciprocity treaty in 1854. It lasted eleven years, when the United States denounced it, principally because of resentment of Canada's attitude toward the Civil War. Several times then the thought of United States-Canadian reciprocity—a free trade basis—has risen. The last time was in 1911, when the Taft administration actually passed a Canadian reciprocity bill through both houses of Congress.

Canada refused it. It was all mixed up, in the Canadian mind, with the fear of annexation.

EQUALITY SOUGHT

Now it looms again. There is no intention, in administration circles, to seek a general raising of all tariff walls. Instead, where barriers—such as the Ottawa Agreements—exist, the effort would be not to erase the preference which exist in favor of various members of the British Empire, but to lower the basic tariff below which the preferences dip. Where a mutual exchange of goods not produced by either country can be achieved, the intention is to seek a free entry basis.

In other words, while the administration considers discussions with emissaries of the nations as very general ones, leading up to the World Economic Conference, specific arrangements of mutual benefit to the countries involved will not be discouraged.

One domestic matter must be settled before any meeting can come to any successful issue. That is the jealous prerogative of the Senate to pass on foreign treaties. The administration is now preparing legislation to make it certain that President Roosevelt will not find himself where President Wilson did after he signed the Versailles Treaty, or where President Hoover did after his moratorium on war debts.

Naturally, this aspect of American procedure is intensely interesting to foreign countries. Once bitten, twice shy. Europe would be hesitant to sign pacts here if they were subject to the same kind of repudiation which other nations have suffered at the hands of the American Congress.

FIRE INSURANCE INCOME FALLS

Fire insurance companies doing business in British Columbia took in premiums $4,567,996 for the year 1932 and paid out net losses of $2,499,908, according to the preliminary statistics issued by H. G. Garrett, superintendent of insurance.

During the year 1931 premiums amounted to $5,316,372, while net losses were $2,637,271.

Sharing this business during the year were 250 companies.

TESTED RECIPES OF TEMPTING INTEREST.

FRIED CHICKEN

TAKE ONE CHICKEN

Cut up into joints and fairly small pieces, remove all moisture, and powder each part with curry powder to which 1/4 teaspoonful of Colman's Mustard has been added. Fry the pieces in butter till a pale brown, then cut 2 onions into small pieces, fry in butter very carefully so as to prevent burning. Pour the onions and sauce over the chicken and serve on very hot plates.

This dish will make a delightful meal for a family of six, at a very moderate cost. Fried Chicken, like all other poultry, meat, fish and cheese dishes gain added zest when eaten with Colman's Mustard

SUITES MAY GET NEW WATER RATE

A general revision of the terms of the city's water by-law by a special committee jointly appointed by the City Council and the apartment house owners may be the outcome of the recent protests of apartment owners that the present rates are out of line, it was intimated at the City Hall to-day.

The present impasse has arisen as a result of the levying early this year of a service charge for apartments in much the same manner as private homes are assessed. Apartment house owners have protested this method because they claim they are unable to turn off the service water in a suite. At a meeting yesterday between the owners and members of the city water committee it was pointed out to the owners that if they were charged for the amount of water used a complete revision of the existing rates would be necessary.

It has been suggested by Alderman P. B. Brown that the best way to arrive at a solution of the problem would be to have a special committee appointed, two members by the City Council and two by the apartment house owners. This committee, the alderman stated, could then appoint its own chairman and go into the entire matter of revision or otherwise of the water by-law in so far as water charges affect apartment houses.

More than $1,000,000 has been spent, by Motherwell, Scotland, in erecting houses for workers.

Back to the Indians

Let's not give Canada back to the Indians. Let's take something from the Indians. The only thing we can take from them now is an idea. But it's a darned good idea—swapping!

When an Indian wanted a new horse, he did not plunk down a chunk of gold for it? He did not! He went to another Red Man who had a horse and said, "Brother, that's a good-looking nag of yours. See here. I'd like to do you a favor. I'll trade you this swell hatchet and my beautiful daughter for him. What do you say?"

At this time of money shortage barter is the way out. Nations are using it. Thousands of individuals are, too. What if you don't have money in the bank? Run an ad in The Times' "To Exchange" column and you can swap for almost anything under the sun from dental work to motor cars. Why not try it?

Yes, We Will Charge It!

CAR PURCHASE IS VOTED DOWN

School Board Decides to Repair Old Truck; Cadet Work Lauded

High pressure selling methods of car salesman were under fire at the meeting of the School Board yesterday evening when the board voted down a proposal to purchase a new truck for use at the shop, and decided to get an estimate of cost of repairs on the old machine.

The offer made the board was a trade-in of the old machine with an allowance of $240, plus a cash payment of $600 for the new truck.

Trustee J. L. Beckwith said he did not approve of the business of "swapping" cars adopted by the high pressure salesman. It would be better first to see what repairs could be made on the old truck, he said.

The greater efficiency of a new machine was stressed by J. C. Morehead, K.C., whose committee had recommended the deal. However, he said he was not unwilling that the matter should stand over.

CADET WORK

Trustee P. E. George submitted to the board a verbal report on cadet work in the schools, with particular reference to recent inspections.

In nine inspections, the officers had reported very favorably, he said. There had been a marked improvement in the work during the year, both in organized play and, first aid instruction. Major A. C. Hinton was to be congratulated on the success attained. Out of 573 students in the first aid classes, approximately 500 had passed the proficiency tests, he said.

A contract for supplying irrigation pipe for the High School grounds was awarded to the local firm of Andrew Shier Limited at a figure of $138.

Attendance reports for the month of April showed enrolment for the month of 5,726, and the average attendance 4,911.3. The enrolment is slightly higher than April last year.

CONFERENCE TO START MAY 17

United Church Ministers to Gather For Ninth Session in Vancouver Soon

Ministers of the United Church in Victoria will shortly leave for Vancouver to attend the ninth annual session of the British Columbia Conference of the United Church of Canada which will meet in St. John's United Church in the mainland city from May 17 until May 23. On the preceding day, May 16, the Laymen's Association under Captain F. R. Wright of Victoria will meet and discuss matters pertinent to the laymen of the church.

One of the highlights of the meeting will be a monster young people's rally to be held on the closing evening of the conference. At this meeting young people from all the United churches in and around Vancouver will gather and discuss vital problems.

All questions relating to the different aspects of church work will be discussed at the gathering and several papers have been prepared by noted authorities. Addressing the conference will feature the programme every day.

At this conference Rev. George O. Falls, president of the B.C. group, will present his annual report and will introduce the two visiting General Council officials, Rev. James Endicott, D.D., secretary of foreign missions, and Rev. Kenneth J. Boston, B.A., associate secretary of home missions. The conference will officially come to a close on Tuesday morning, May 23.

Asks Pay Cut And Gets It

Commissioner John Bennett administering the affairs of Burnaby municipality for the provincial government has asked for a salary cut and the government has granted his request.

The reduction the commissioner asked for is 10 per cent. Members of the cabinet said they would be pleased to grant his request and this week passed an order-in-council making it official.

While making this cut, the cabinet decided the city of Revelstoke was paying too much for the provincial police, under whom the city is policed. The cabinet decided to cut the charge to Revelstoke by 10 per cent and passed a confirming order-in-council.

After making these cuts the cabinet decided to make a cash grant to the B.C. Fish and Game Association, which is distributing a guide book on British Columbia game resources announcing the open season dates.

Thomas W. Balmann of Langley Prairie was appointed a justice of the peace.

E. N. Beaulieu of Dawson Creek was named notary public.

The cabinet decided that forest fire patrols this summer will be carried out partly as relief work, using balance from last year's funds for this purpose.

Arrangements were made for North Vancouver city to deposit $12,500 of bonds as security for the advance from the government of $12,500 for relief costs. On a 5 1/2 per cent basis, the carrying charges on these bonds amount to $1,722 a year.

Colwood

The first game of the Girls' Inter-school League series competing for the perpetual challenge cup, donated by the Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institute and won last year by the Colwood school, was played at Colwood Tuesday afternoon and was won by the Happy Valley school team by a score of 14 to 6. The Colwood players were Janet Hill, Lynn Piercy, Nancy McLean, Ethel Brown, Mildred Peart, while those from the Happy Valley school were Peggy Heath, Shirley Smith, Doris Clarke, Elsie Butt, Norma McLeod, Esther Hutchison, Sheldon Piercy referred.

The monthly meeting of the women's auxiliary to St. John's Church was held Wednesday afternoon in Colwood Hall. Satisfaction was expressed by the members on the purchase of an organ for the church, the money for same having been raised by the auxiliary. It was decided the small balance remaining from the organ fund be used for church furnishings.

Arrangements were made for the Diocesan Board monthly meeting, which will be held in Colwood Hall, April 19.

One Victorian and Three Vancouverites Reach Semi-finals

Will Victoria's Canadian Championship Basketball Team Stay Together?

Owners and Dopesters Brushing Up on the Bangtails Working Out Here

"Be Nonchalant," Remarks Red Faber When He Steals an Occupied Sack

UNLESS employment is found them locally, Canada's newly crowned basketball champions, the Victoria Blue Ribbons, may be broken up before next season rolls around.

Bangy Chuck Chapman, defensive hero of the recent series, is seeking a job, and if he does not secure one in Victoria, there is every likelihood he will find one elsewhere.

Not that Chuck would like to leave Victoria. But basketball is his sport and it does not provide board and lodgings, at least the way they play it in the capital. Victoria's champions have an unblemished record. There has never been a hint of professionalism in their make-up. It would be a fine thing if the city could keep the team together to continue its fine work in the future.

With the dates of Victoria's opening racing meet only two weeks off, local turf followers are digging up their form books and checking up on the winter performances of the ponies which will appear at the Willows oval. The meet will bring plenty of the old favorites back, while there are a number of two-year-olds which will be making their first appearances.

The fans will be offered an opportunity of witnessing a goodly number of the local products in action with the presentation of two Canadian-bred races on each day's card. This is a new feature for local racing and no doubt will be welcomed by local owners, many of whom have put in some tough seasons competing with a lot of outside horseflesh.

Regularly now owners and trainers may be seen at the track every morning, watching their "pets" warm up over an eighth of a mile or more. And the owners and trainers are not the only attendants, for one can often see the "dopesters" who are out to find the "dark horse" which is going to upset all form calculations, checking the ponies as they warm into the stretch.

Officials of the local racing association and the B.C. Agricultural Association are working untiringly to have all in readiness for the meet. The track is being groomed daily with tractors and harrows and should be in first-class shape. The Australian totalisators will again be used in the betting and are being given the once over by the caretakers.

There are about 100 horses now stabled in Willows barns. These include some first-class sprinters. Frank Beban is on hand with his string, in which Belt O' Gold, Better Day and Lady Choco are outstanding. Lord and Lady Godolphin and Prince Godstream are the leading lights of Asa Smith's stable, while he is also reported as having a future threat in a colt by Belmont named Beewing. The Riverview Stable, Ruth Parton, Herb Fullerton and "Doc" Clarke are among the others expected to show up in time for the first spring of the start's tape.

Officiating at the tape this year will be Wm. "Quartermaster" Starn, a veteran starter of British Columbia and Pacific Coast tracks, who did not appear in Victoria last year. "Quartermaster" is a man that stands for the fooling at the post and has a keen eye for breaking them evenly.

Present prospects promise ideal weather for the meet and the racing association deserves it after the tough breaks of last May. The first session is also expected to draw large daily attendances, as there will be a three-months' lapse before the ponies will again visit Victoria.

Urban "Red" Faber, one of the oldest active players in the major leagues, won three games for the White Sox in the 1917 world series against the Holland-American team at the Hague.

Faber, perched on second, decided he'd steal third at the first change. He dashed madly to the third sack, only to find Buck Weaver, hopping mad, already there. "Where do you think you're going?" shouted Weaver. "Right out there to pitch!" replied the chagrined Faber.

DO YOU REMEMBER? One year ago yesterday the Montreal Canadiens beat the Toronto Maple Leafs, 9 to 7, to give New York its first taste of box lacrosse.

Five years ago yesterday Helen Wills defeated Rolin Crouquer, the Dutch woman tennis champion, in the first round of the Holland-American match at The Hague.

Ten years ago yesterday Francis Oumet defeated John F. Neville, United States; and C. Bretherton, England, in the fourth and fifth rounds of the British amateur at Deal, England.

SOCCER FINAL IS POSTPONED

Mrs. B. R. Philbrick Downs Mrs. Jackson In B.C. Golf Play

Plays Brilliantly to Lead By Five Holes on First Nine and Win 3 and 2

HAD FIVE THREES TO GO OUT IN 35

Mrs. Vera Hutchings and Two Other Vancouverites Also Reach Semi-finals

The lone bearer of Victoria's standard in the championship flight of the British Columbia Women's amateur golf tournament at the Oak Bay links is Mrs. B. R. Philbrick, who came back into her own in a quarter-final match against Mrs. E. Jackson yesterday afternoon and won out on the sixteenth green, 3 up and 2 to play.

With Mrs. Philbrick in the semi-finals are Mrs. Vera Hutchings, defending champion; Miss N. King and Miss Duff-Stuart, all of Vancouver. This afternoon Mrs. Philbrick was playing Miss Duff-Stuart and Mrs. Vera Hutchings, endeavoring to win her fourth straight championship, was trying conclusions with Miss King, two handicap player from Jericho.

Against Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. Philbrick struck the form which has been some what strange to her of late. She was out in thirty-five, which is women's par and two over men's par, and did the seven holes of the second nine in thirty-four. Five strokes were copied by her on the first nine, a performance worthy of the best men players.

DROPPED FIRST Mrs. Jackson started off by winning the 90-yard first hole with a par-five to her opponent's six, but Mrs. Philbrick steadied down and halved the second hole. She was out in thirty-five and five up at the turn.

Mrs. Jackson got one back at the tenth with a nice four, but her opponent was five and seven to play at the eleventh with a five to a six. Mrs. Philbrick lost the 525-yard twelfth with a seven to her opponent's five, halved the thirteenth in thirty-three and led cut to three when Mrs. Jackson backed another par three on the thirteenth. A rally by the Up-lands star seemed imminent, but Mrs. Philbrick steadied down and halved the dog's leg fifteenth in par fives to become double three up, and got another hole in fives on the sixteenth for the match.

Model scores follow: Mrs. Philbrick—Out—6354353333—35 In—573455—34 for 7 holes.

Miss King—Out—54545444—35 for 8 holes. In—563355—31 for 7 holes.

Women's par—Out—534444433—35 In—52345453—34

BIG SURPRISE One of the big surprises of the afternoon was the decisive defeat of Mrs. Vera Hutchings by Miss Duff-Stuart, who in the morning had eliminated Miss "Patsy" Hodgson, Mrs. Peterson.

Art Chapman Nets Four Counters in Spencer's-Bays Encounter

Spencer's and Navy soccer eleven advanced to the final round in the MacKay Shield Knockout competition when they handed Hudson's Bay and Saanich United 5 to 1 defeats, in a double-header played yesterday afternoon at Heywood Avenue grounds. The feature of the twin bill was Art Chapman's performance for Spencer's. Playing at centre forward Chapman drove in four of the winners' counters.

Spencer's and Hudson's Bay provided a hard fought game throughout, but the scoring for the Navy with a hard shot from in front of the goal mouth. Jerry Ward tied the count for Saanich when he beat Barker with a penalty shot off Saanich's goal. The first half ended with the score 1 to 1. Goals from Walker, outside left, and McDonald, in quick succession after the second half opened gave Navy an easy lead. The winners' forwards played brilliantly and were able to carry the play through, the Saanich defence practically at will. Walker and Bruce Robinson scored the Navy's fourth and fifth markers respectively. Ralph Alcock refereed and the teams were:

FEED BILLS HOLD HORSES

United States Owned Race Ponies Unable to Clear Mexico; Purses Unpaid

El Paso, Texas, May 11.—Juarez customs office yesterday refused to allow United States-owned race ponies to cross to El Paso until owners pay their feed bills.

The Juarez race meeting, scheduled to end May 15, was called off yesterday, but forty-two United States horses remained in their stalls at the Juarez track. Some horses have been without food for three days, the owners said.

The feed bills total only $400 and the owners have won $5,000 in purses. None of the $5,000 has been paid, however, owners said.

The stranded owners, most of them from the Tancitar track, San Francisco, Cal., are shooting for a quick payoff to win their way into the United States.

The owners themselves are hungry, they said.

Fifty-two horses were brought here yesterday by owners able to pay their feed bills. Horsemen said they were not allowed to credit their feed bills against the unpaid purses.

HEAD PLAY IN FINE WORKOUT

Baltimore, Md., May 11.—After an almost sensational workout, Mrs. Silas Mason's sterling colt, Head Play, was believed by many to be the likely favorite when a select group of thoroughbreds goes to the post in the Preakness Saturday.

Running for the first time since he was barely nosed out by Col. R. Bradley's Broker's Tip in the Kentucky Derby last week, Head Play breezed around a muddy track at Pimlico in fast time until his speed was purposely checked by Jockey Earl Steffen.

Other candidates for the $25,000 added Preakness, run over a mile and three-sixteenths at the Pimlico track, took workouts.

The highly regarded Broker's Tip was not so impressive as was Head Play, but track men pointed out that he was not a good work horse, and that he was not extended.

BUD HOCKING BEATS FORBES

In an exhibition game at the opening of the First United Church tennis courts yesterday evening, Bud Hocking took straight sets from Tommy Forbes, 6-3 and 6-3.

The president of the club, D. Gordon Robson, welcomed the guests and the old and new members. In a short speech, an outline of the growth and activities of the club was given by him, following which Fred M. McGregor officially declared the courts open.

About seventy-five people witnessed the exhibition game, which was a closely played, exciting contest most points on drives and placements.

Forbes called several times and was delivering some beautiful service, but could not reply to the powerful drive which won Hocking the sets. Following the game refreshments were served.

REACH FINALS OF CLUB TITLE

Wallace and Wright Will Fight For Macaulay Championship Sunday

The thirty-six hole final for the men's championship of Macaulay Point Golf Club will be played on Sunday, when Norman Wallace, former titleholder, and Eric Wright, a promising youngster who has been a championship threat for the last two years, will tee off at 10 o'clock. Wallace and Wright have won their ways into the final as a result of the play in the first and second rounds completed during the last two weeks.

Wallace defeated Frank Morgan and Finlay Morgan in the first and second rounds, while Wright overcame R. Riley in the opening draw.

Experiences of the last few years have made Wallace slight favorite to win the title. He has been shooting brilliant golf to win his way into the finals. Wright, on the other hand, is rated one of the most promising players of the club, and is expected to force the ex-champion all the way.

Another Vancouver lad, Billy Townsend, who has delighted New York fans for several years, came out at the reverse end of the decision, dropping a round fight to New Yorker Billy Hogan.

On practically even terms till the final round, Hogan unleashed a hard drive that carried him the nod from two judges, one voting for a draw. Hogan's left eye closed up halfway in the seventh round after Townsend had secured a job for the six. Hogan at 141½ spotted the Vancouver boy 3½ pounds.

Lawrence gave a smart exhibition previous to the fifth, generally outpointing the Vancouver boy as he battered away at Foston's head. Foston confined his attack to Lawrence's body but failed to make much headway. The first round was slow and even, with the second going to Foston and the third to Lawrence. The fourth was again even with action speeding up.

Roy, who retired as undefeated champion in 1931, referred the bout, and afterwards Lawrence was presented with the diamond-studded gold belt emblem of the featherweight title yielded by Roy.

Lawrence, conqueror of Barney O'Connell, Montreal; Jackie Johnson and Osie Bodin, both of Toronto, had trouble in making the weight, but finally came in at 125½, half a pound heavier than Foston.

Bobby Lawrence Drops Foston To Win Championship

Toronto Fighter Knocks Out Vancouverite in Canadian Feather Duel

BILLY TOWNSEND LOSES DECISION

Fans Crowd House to Watch Light Fighters Show Pretty Form

Montreal, May 11.—Bobby Lawrence, wiry Toronto mitterwielder, to-day wore the Canadian featherweight crown, slightly dusty from laying on the shelf since Leo Kid Roy of Montreal relinquished it in 1931.

By knocking out Alan Foston of Vancouver in the fifth round of their scheduled ten-round fight here yesterday evening, Lawrence took undisputed hold of the crown and of Roy's diamond-studded gold belt, emblem of the featherweight title.

Before a crowd of approximately 3,500, Lawrence tossed a barrage of right crosses to the jaw of the Pacific Coast boy. Foston failed to weather the storm and crumpled to the canvas to hear vaguely the count toll over him.

Lawrence sent over four rights to Foston's jaw near the end of the fifth round. As the Pacific Coast boy staggered away, Lawrence straightened him up with a swishing left hook to the jaw. Foston was groggy and the Toronto man took quick advantage and planned five rights to Foston's jaw which crumpled him to the canvas for the count.

Gains to Defend His Empire Title

Promising Oarsmen To Carry Colors of J.B.A.A. This Season

Local Association Has Fine Lot of Material Turning Out Daily

To Hold Regatta Here on July 1

Rowing Committee Will Meet at Gorge To-night to Decide on Season's Plans

Plans for the 1933 rowing season of the James Bay Athletic Association will be completed at a meeting of the rowing committee this evening, when preparations will be made for visits to Vancouver and Washington for inter-city regattas and for an inter-city regatta to be held at Elk Lake on July 1.

The decision to drop the N.P.A.A. regatta this year, while it has been disappointing to local oarsmen, has increased their incentive to arrange races with Puget Sound cities. The local association has a fine lot of material turning out daily for practice under the experienced coaching eye of Dan O'Sullivan, the grand old man of Victoria's rowing fraternity.

"We have some promising material among this year's rowers," Coach O'Sullivan stated this morning. "and the boys will certainly make a name for themselves if they stay with it."

REGATTA HERE
The biggest rowing event of this year in Victoria will be the July 1 meet at Elk Lake, Teams from Seattle, Vancouver, the Washington Athletic Club and other centres are expected to compete. The locals have been invited to take part in a regatta on the mainland on May 12, but have declined, preferring to devote the time to getting their equipment into shape for later racing. Trips to Washington and Vancouver are planned for the coming season.

The probable line-up for the J.B.A.A. senior fours this year will be J. Rockingham, Rex Askey, Jack Dunn and either Bill Dillabough, Allan Wright or Ray Ditchburn. This crew is the same which represented the Bays in the N.P.A.A. last year, with the exception of Noel Jones, who has been forced to drop out. His place will be taken by one of the three oarsmen mentioned above.

Chris Usher's novice crew which showed up so well last year will again be out in uniform, with the exception of Bill Clarke. His place will be taken by Bill Davies, a most promising member of the club, who is expected to fill the gap with full honors. Other members of this quartette are Bill Lemm and Jim Temple. This crew is rated by Capt. Dan Moses as one of the most promising junior squads that ever carried the Bays' colors.

CHAMPIONS FORCED OUT
The association has had the misfortune this year to lose two members of its lightweight four-oared crew which has won the North Pacific championship for the last two years. These are Frank Cole, stroke, and Art Jones, the latter having been forced out by an operation on his eye. Arnold Mann and Bob Wastien, the other two members, will be out again, and will join with Gordie Scott, who is expected to act as stroke, and Art Webster.

The present hopes for the junior doubles are the Mann brothers, Arnold and Jim, while Bill Stancil will carry the colors in the 140-pound singles events.

Bill Dillabough and Hughie Francis are expected to be strong contestants in the senior doubles, while both are trying out for the singles events.

In a fourth flight first-round match started in the morning, Mrs. Waude defeated Mrs. Bowman, 3 and 2, and was playing Miss Hogan in the only final to-day.

The association has had the misfortune this year to lose two members of its lightweight four-oared crew which has won the North Pacific championship for the last two years. These are Frank Cole, stroke, and Art Jones, the latter having been forced out by an operation on his eye. Arnold Mann and Bob Wastien, the other two members, will be out again, and will join with Gordie Scott, who is expected to act as stroke, and Art Webster.

The present hopes for the junior doubles are the Mann brothers, Arnold and Jim, while Bill Stancil will carry the colors in the 140-pound singles events.

AFTER BOUT WITH CUPID HE FACES $100,000 SUIT

Canadian Press

New York, May 11.—The tender heart that beats under the rippling chest muscles of Stanislaus Zbyszko, one-time champion of grime and grouts and bore him through triumphantly to a $100,000 breach of promise suit—were scheduled to be laid bare in supreme court here to-day.

The girl whom Zbyszko called Winifred (Polish for Gladys) Buzek, 1921, Zbyszko was married to Anna G. Schmidt in Yonkers.

peg, wants the $100,000, charging the former world's champion vanished after proposing marriage and being accepted.

Miss Buzek said she met the wrestler at a party in Winnipeg following his appearance there in an exhibition on a world tour.

The wrestler's answer admits the meeting, proposal and acceptance. It contends, however, that when he returned from a trip to Poland in 1927 Miss Buzek refused to marry him.

In 1921, Zbyszko was married to Anna G. Schmidt in Yonkers.

SUGGESTS RULES FOR DICTATOR

Countess de Arnil Says What She Would Do For Great Britain

The Countess Eileen de Arnil, the English wife of a Portuguese diplomat, has drawn up a list of eleven rules which she would see enforced if she had the dictatorship of Great Britain.

"Dictatorships have come for a great deal of criticism," she writes in a letter to The Daily Mirror. "I believe, however, that if a woman were given autocratic powers in Britain for one week she would revolutionize the country and the health of the people."

Here are the countess's eleven rules.

1. Make the drinking of cocktails by people under twenty-one a penal offence.

2. Sweep away that scandal in British public life—Dora, the Defence of the Realm Act.

3. Prohibit women from making-up in public. Let them make up for men, but not before men.

4. Prohibit pipe-smoking in public balls.

5. Make the drinking of at least one glass of fruit juice per day compulsory for everyone.

6. Make five years' hard labor the minimum sentence for cruelty to children or animals.

7. Do away with the bare-back evening dress vogue.

8. Decree mixed classes in all schools.

9. Submit all proposed laws affecting women for approval to a panel of women.

10. Insist that no man shall dance in a stiff-fronted shirt.

11. Set up a ministry of gastronomy under a woman, which, among other things, would teach housewives how to make good coffee, and by prescribing wise diets and the inclusion of fruit in every meal would prevent people digging graves with their teeth.

WAS PARLOR MAID

The countess is well qualified to discuss domestic matters for in 1924 she started the country by taking a job, under an assumed name, as house-parlormaid, in order that she might learn from experience something of the life of a domestic servant.

She was formerly Miss Eileen Phillips of Liverpool and on completing her education she was appointed as lecturer at the Sorbonne in Paris, at the same time becoming well known as the author of novels and articles.

During the war she did much work for the men in the American army, and at the end of the war she set up a school for the children of American officers in a hut in the garden of the ex-Kaiser's palace at Coblenz.

This year the Countess founded the "Happy Thought" movement, an organization for passing on happiness, in which the Queen is much interested.

J. Timmermans, aged ninety-nine, has been manager of a life insurance company in the south of Holland for seventy-five years, and he arrives at the office punctually every morning with an enthusiasm for his work that sets a fast pace for his employees.

When Ball Players Forgot Their Real Jobs

A free-for-all fight between players and fans flared in the final game of the initial series between the New York Yankees and Washington Senators in Griffith Stadium, Washington, after Ben Chapman, Yankee left fielder, and Ruddy Myer, Senator second baseman, came to blows on the field. Police reserves are shown in this picture quelling the melee in which hundreds of spectators joined. Jimmy Burke, Yankee coach, is seen being held back by a fan. Chapman, Myer, and Earl Whiteball, Washington player, were suspended indefinitely for their part in the scrap.

Indians Join Yanks As American Leaders; Athletics Win Pair

Cleveland Wallops Boston Red Sox 4 to 2 While New York Takes Lacing

Cincinnati Wins Two From Phils

St. Louis Browns Blank Senators 5 to 0; Detroit Drops Brace of Games

By Hugh S. Fullerton Jr. Associated Press Sports Writer

Due to the strength of Cleveland Indians and a few other western clubs, New York Yankees have surrendered their place of solitary splendor at the head of the American League standing for the first time in a few days more than a year.

Cleveland clambered up to share first place yesterday by beating Boston Red Sox 4 to 2, while the world champions were taking a 10 to 2 beating from the White Sox at Chicago. The situation might have been even worse for the Yankees but for a late rally by St. Louis Browns which downed Washington, 5 to 0, and kept the Senators from taking a clear lead in the close race.

Philadelphia's Athletics hit the comeback trail as they started against the slipping Detroit Tigers and moved into fifth place by taking both games of a doubleheader, 3 to 2 and 6 to 4.

Bad weather reduced the national league programme to one doubleheader, which saw Cincinnati Reds wallop the tail-end Phillies twice and advance to fourth place with a .300 average. The scores were 10 to 7 and 4 to 3.

Guess Hitter Now Takes Up Golf

By AL DEMAREE

The "guess hitter" in baseball is the batter who makes up his mind in advance as to what type of ball the pitcher will throw him and tries to out-guess him. If he guesses right, it's fine, but if he guesses wrong he looks and feels like a clown.

There are many "guess hitters" among golfers in fact they are in the great majority.

They start guessing as to whether they will hit the ball at all, and if they are fortunate enough to hit it, they guess where it is going.

This also applies to putting. As one old fellow remarked to Jack Hutchison on a seaside course: "Who can putt with those ships sailing up and down the bay!"

Wheat Advances Two Cents In Session of Winnipeg Market

Winnipeg, May 11.—Stubbornly resisting late session raids of profit-takers, wheat futures scored price advances of nearly 2½ cents at the close of the Winnipeg Grain Market to-day. Early session gains were added to in the late minutes as further support entered the pit to offset the selling. Tuesday's 2½ cent losses were more than recovered to to-day's closing levels. Coupled with yesterday's advances of more than half cent, to-day's finish of 2½ to 2½ cent gain left the May option at 64½, July 65½ to 65½ and October 67½ to 67½ cents.

Late session announcement was that 750,000 bushels of wheat was sold for overseas shipment, imparting a strong tone to values. The usual closing entrance of profit-taking selling was easily absorbed.

Heartened by announcement of the best day's export business of the week, to-day's session was cheerful and futures traded buoyantly throughout. Given a boost of nearly 2 cents at the start, futures gradually added to their gains with plentiful support nearly always available.

Trading moved in spasmodic bursts.

Heavy Buying In Oils At Vancouver

Vancouver, May 11.—Heavy buying in the oil share sent those stocks to new high levels for the year in the morning session of the Vancouver Stock Exchange to-day, while the gold and base metal issues, although more heavily traded than the oils, held firm to a fraction lower in some cases. Home Oil was the high flyer of the session, advancing to a new high for the year at 80 cents from an opening of 77½ cents. It was the previous high, and Royalite jumped to a new peak at $12.25.

C. and E. Corporation sold up to a new high for the year at 64 cents from an opening of 60 cents and Biorline sold up to 25 cents. United Oil was in good demand at 10 cents but Freehold sold off from 7½ cents to close at 6 cents. Mayland held firmly around 67 cents.

In the gold, Meridian, after sagging nearly 10 cents on Wednesday, strengthened and closed about five points higher. At 29 cents and Reno gold was a feature in the rest of activity and held at $11.11.

Pioneer opened quite strong at $10.15 and sold off to close at $10.05 after slipping as low as $10.00. River Consolidated was active at 20 cents and the Exploration sold up to 41 cents. Biorline held at $5.80 but Georgia River, under the pressure of profit taking, slipped to 6½ cents from an opening price of around 7½.

Base metal shares did not display unusual strength but held firmly at the levels of Wednesday. Noble Five sold at 15 cents and 60¢ National Silver was about the same at 4½ cents.

Stocks newly listed on the curb exchange and selling at around the 50-cent level are proving popular traders.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

Boss's Wife Who Forced Secretary to Abandon Make-up and Then Jeered Her Drabness; Tragedy of Woman of Fifty Whose Husband Has Outgrown Her

DEAR MISS DIX—My boss is a fine man and I am an efficient office woman, so all is well except that his wife feels that she has a right to dictate about my clothes and personal appearance. The first week I went to work my employer said that his wife didn't approve of my style of dress and she didn't like me to wear beads in the office. All right, I left off the beads and started dressing ten years older, wearing nothing but black, brown and navy blue. A little later he told me that his wife wished that he would call my attention to my use of lipstick and rouge. She didn't think either one appropriate for the office, O.K., again. No more make-up. The other day I heard through another source that she said I was beginning to look like an old, worn-out married woman. She said I was pale-looking, drab lips and no color.

I would leave, except that I dare not give up a good job in these times. What should I do? TROUBLED.

Answer: Well, at all events, you don't need to be troubled about losing your job, because you have evidently achieved the ideal of drabness which your employer's wife had in mind for you, and which keeps her from being jealous of you, and that is some pay for being frumpy in these days when good pay envelopes are as scarce as hen's teeth.

Nor need you take to heart the fact that your boss's boss commented on the fact that you looked like a worn-out, old married woman, because that is exactly the way she wants you to look and she was publicly proclaiming her own astuteness in robbing you of your good looks and congratulating herself that she is a wife who has sense enough to make her husband's secretary haul down her colors and try to go more gay and alluring flags.

Of course, it is an impudent and outrageous thing for her to dictate to you about your clothes and your complexion. That is none of her business. She has no more right to tell you how to dress and what make-up to put on than you have to criticize her taste, but inasmuch as your employer seems to be completely under her wife's thumb, and you would undoubtedly get fired if you should make the snappy retort to her she deserves, I'd park my lipstick and my beads until times are better and work more plentiful.

But it is a pity for any woman to get so soured that she begrudges youth its hour of beauty and adornment and would strip it of the gay frumpiness that it loves. I always feel sorry for age that is so jaundiced with envy that it does not enjoy looking at a pretty young girl, and that does not feel an instinctive desire to smother her in pink chiffons and party frocks and satin slippers and bangles and chains.

Of course, a business girl should dress like a business girl. That is merely the good taste of being appropriately groomed. Appearances count for a lot and she should like an efficient, serious-minded young woman who is on her job instead of being diked out in fuss and feathers like a debutante on her way to a pink tea. But that doesn't mean that she need be shabby or frumpy, and still less does it mean that she shouldn't have a wave in her hair nor a curl on the nape of her neck, nor use the means that Heaven has vouchsafed us of turning a sallow complexion into a fair and rosy one.

On the contrary, it is part of a business girl's business to be as good-looking as possible. It helps trade and it helps the girl do better work because it braces up her morale. No girl can have any pep if she knows she is looking like something the cat brought in, but if a glance at her mirror shows her that she resembles a million dollars, she feels equal to tackling anything and breaking down the sales resistance of the stubbornest customer or getting out the last letter and clearing her desk before she leaves.

And another point that your boss's wife seems to miss is that it is important for a business girl to make the most of her looks because the offices where she works are her happy hunting ground for a husband. The society girl meets men at dinners and parties and balls, but the business girl has few social contacts. She meets men where she works, and if she doesn't catch the eye of some eligible youth there she is sunk.

And how can she do this if she has to wear drab frocks and unbecoming hats and no paint and powder?

So I implore the bosses' wives to have a heart and lay off their husbands' employees' clothes. Let them remember the time when they were girls and liked to doll themselves up. Or let them ask themselves how they would like to take away their own daughter's pretty clothes and compacts.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—Suppose a couple who were much alike when they married at twenty find themselves at fifty very different from each other. Suppose the man still feels young and seeks a younger woman because his wife is twice as large as when he married her and has no longer the interest for him she had when younger. Can you offer any words of comfort for the woman? Is Nature, man or woman wrong?

Answer: Probably Nature is the culprit in most of such cases because it brings about growth, which is so often a tragedy in marriage. A young boy and girl marry, seemingly well suited to each other. They have been reared in the same environment, have the same habits and tastes and to all appearances have about an equal amount of intelligence. But one stands still and the other grows. One reads and studies and improves his mind and takes on culture and gets a bigger and broader viewpoint, and the other stays put, with never a new idea or a new thought, with no interest beyond the little daily round of duties, the little home circle.

And the result is that the two are unequally yoked together and the marriage is a failure. Both are lonely, the one who has soared to the heights and the one who stays in the valley. Few marriages are more unhappy than those of the man and woman who are forced to live together, but whose souls are as far apart as if they inhabited different worlds.

For this reason every bride and bridegroom should start out on their honeymoon making a definite, intelligent effort to keep in touch with each other. They should cultivate the same interests and try to make themselves companionable to each other. The man should not absorb himself in his business and the woman devote herself to the children, but they should work together, for in that way alone can they keep in step with each other.

A woman can keep her husband from developing away from her if she will begin in time, but if she waits until she is fifty it is too late. Then nothing is left for her but to reconcile herself to the situation and find other interests in life.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—Why is it so desperately hard to convince the modern girl that there is any such thing as a really righteous young man whose thoughts are pure and noble and whose intentions are honorable?

Answer: Probably because she has seen so few of them. It is hard to believe in prehistoric animals even after you have seen their skeletons in the museums.

There are plenty of girls who have never beheld in the flesh a man who didn't try to kiss them the first time he saw them, or who didn't make them pay for being taken to the movies by being pawed over or who would pay any attention to a girl who was quiet and home-loving.

While the thinkers and leaders of the nation are well directed under this constellation, there is a sign indicating unrest among certain classes of workers.

Industry is subject to a way making for slow concessions to radical measures that speed work and extend employment.

Ms. Cascade Released As Trim White Ship

LOCAL PEOPLE RETURN HOME

Victorians Aboard Ms. Delftyk Here This Morning From Europe Ports

A party of Victorians, who have been motoring in Great Britain, and on the continent, returned to Victoria this morning aboard the Dutch motorship Delftyk, which docked at Ogden Point piers at 7.15 o'clock from Rotterdam and London, by way of the Panama Canal and California ports.

In the party of local tourists were Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Mathews of Arnold Avenue, with their son-in-law, J. D. Ferguson, and their daughter, Mrs. Ferguson, and Miss Gladys Mathews. They left last fall for Europe by the Ma. Delftyk, travelling by way of the Panama and motored extensively in England and Scotland.

Capt. J. Stamperius was aboard the Delftyk when she docked this morning. He reported an uneventful voyage, with favorable weather most of the way across the Atlantic and up the Pacific Coast.

Passengers proceeding to Vancouver, after sightseeing drives about Victoria, included Mr. and Mrs. Julius Beresford and Miss Ruth Lavender.

For Victoria the Delftyk had 100 tons of general cargo. Before proceeding to Vancouver she loaded some local cargo for the return voyage to London. This cargo includes 700 cases of locally canned loganberries. The ship left for Vancouver at noon.

Saanich Arm Ferry Left Esquimalt Harbor To-day Like a Different Craft

Will Be Able to Give Faster Service Between Mill Bay and Brentwood

No more like her former self than a rowboat is like an ocean liner, the ferry motorship Cascade went around to Saanich Arm this morning, to commence her service between Mill Bay and Brentwood, after being at the Yarrow plant in Esquimalt harbor during the last three months, for complete rebuilding, overhaul and installation of a new engine. She will start her run on Monday morning.

Faster, and much smarter in appearance, the Cascade is white-painted and trim, instead of grey and rather bulky as she was when she went to Esquimalt in January. In place of the old steam engine is a modern six-cylinder Gardner Diesel engine, which at 370 revolutions produces 144 horsepower. It is type 630, with a nine-inch bore, and an eleven-inch stroke. It was ordered from England especially for the Cascade, and to superintend its installation Alex. J. McLennan, representative of the Gardner company in Vancouver, came to Victoria the other day.

BETTER SERVICE

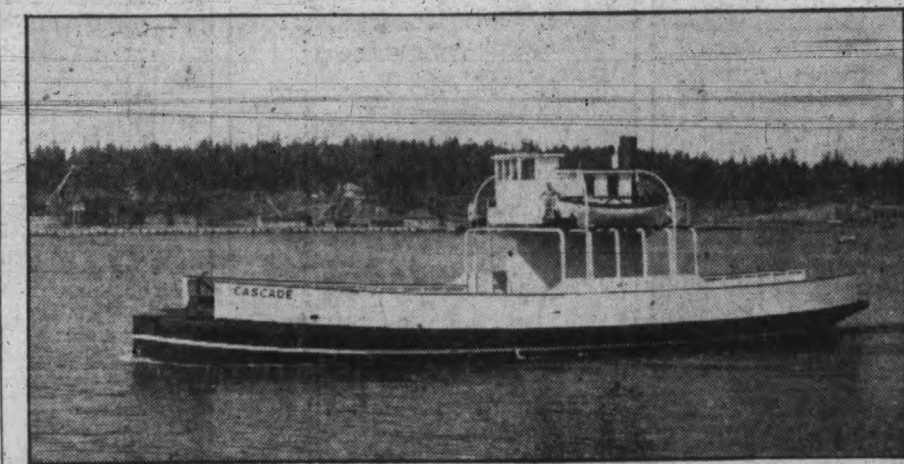

On her trial run out towards Albert Head this week the Cascade averaged better than nine knots, but it is at this speed that she will ply between Mill Bay and Brentwood. Instead of making eight round trips, as in past years, she will be able to make ten round trips this season. It will take approximately twenty minutes to cross from one point to the other.

The Cascade is glistering in her coat of fresh white paint. Her black-tipped red funnel and her two lifeboats, are some of the distinctive features. On the main deck is accommodation for fourteen or sixteen cars, depending on their size. A narrow stairway leads from this deck to the passenger deck, where those people who do not care to remain in their cars may sit during the crossing.

The Cascade is a veteran ship of the British Columbia Coast. She has been on the Saanich Arm run for the last seven years, and prior to that did freightage to James Island and the Fraser River. Capt. H. G. Kennard is the present master.

Following is the schedule released this morning by G. B. Williams, secretary of the company, showing how the Cascade will operate: Leave Brentwood every hour, starting on the hour, between 9 o'clock and 6 o'clock, and leave Mill Bay every hour on the half hour, starting at 9.30 o'clock and continuing until 6.30 o'clock in the evening. This service will be daily, including Sundays.

MAQUINNA IN FOR OVERHAUL

For annual seasonal overhaul, the St. Princes Maquinna has been on the marine slipway at the Bay Street plant of the Victoria Machinery Depot the last day or two. She was floated off to-day and returned to the Belleville Street docks to load cargo for ports along the West Coast of Vancouver Island. She will sail for the Coast this evening at 11 o'clock with a fair list of passengers and a heavy general cargo.

FREIGHTER FROM SAINT JOHN IN

Silveray Docked This Morning; Other Ships of Service En Route Here

Capt. William J. Irvine brought the British freighter Silveray into port this morning at 9.50 o'clock after a twenty-six day voyage from Saint John via the Panama Canal, in the service of the Vancouver-St. Lawrence Line. She sailed from Saint John April 16, calling at other ports in the Maritime Provinces as well. She had nearly 100 tons of general cargo for Victoria discharge.

Regular monthly service will be maintained during the summer season from Montreal, the St. Lawrence Line, and the St. Lawrence Line. The vessel will be followed by the St. Lawrence Line, which will be followed by the St. Lawrence Line.

This service is a subsidiary of the Canadian Transport Company Limited, and was inaugurated last September, providing an assured lumber and general cargo connection between British Columbia and eastern Canadian ports.

The Vancouver-St. Lawrence Line now has twelve modern motorships available for service in the intercoastal trade and all these ships are of British registry. The chartering of the Silveray is in line with the general policy of the parent company, which was originated in 1922. It is entirely a Canadian organization, with all shares being held by Vancouver business men, with H. R. MacMillan at its head.

While here this morning the Silveray went to the Eschena Point piers. The ship was built in 1925 at the J. L. Thompson Plant at Sunderland for the Silver Line Limited (Stanley and John Thompson Limited). She is registered at 4,535 tons, with a length of 395 feet, a breadth of fifty-seven feet and a depth of twenty-three feet. Her home port is London.

Capt. Hickey Passes After Long Sea Life

Was Best-known as Skipper of Ss. Princess Victoria, on Which He Made Record

Funeral Services Saturday Morning

Came West 43 Years Ago After Going to Sea as a Boy in Native Newfoundland

The career of one of British Columbia's best known seafarers came to a close at St. Joseph's Hospital yesterday afternoon when Capt. P. J. Hickey, for many years master of the Ss. Princess Victoria, plying out of this port, passed away after a short illness, aged eighty-one years. The late captain went to sea as a boy in his native Newfoundland, and until ten years ago, when he retired, served his restless mistress.

The remains are now at the B.C. Funeral Parlor, and will be sent to the late residence to-morrow, from where the funeral will take place Saturday morning at 8.45 o'clock, proceeding to St. Andrew's Cathedral, where requiem mass will be said at 9 o'clock. Interment will be made in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

CAREER CLOSES

A NEW CONCEPTION

YOU'VE never really seen Victoria, Vancouver and the Gulf Islands until you have seen them from the air.

The beautiful gardens of Victoria, from whence, at the outer basin, Esquimalt, you take off, the sparkle of Elk Lake, the Saanich Peninsula, the forested crown of Mt. Baker, the majestic beauty of Active Pass, the Fraser Delta, Point Grey, the two peaks of the Lions, Stanley Park, the blue carpet of Burrard Inlet, on which, at Coal Harbour Bay, you alight!

It's a thrill, an education, a convenience and an economy you should not miss.
